
Learning Resource Collaboration Day:
Student Centred Transition Planning

- Description A day designed to support more effective student centred transition planning from elementary school to high school using the PATH process as a focal point. High school and elementary school Learning Resource Teachers (and classroom teachers) will work collaboratively to build a consistent, systematic and effective process for transition planning. Through collaboration, we will discuss skills, strategies, and resources needed in the process. The day will also include a presentation from the Family Support Insititue. We encourage all resource teachers to attend this meeting, as it is a starting point for high school and elementary school resource teachers to plan and collaborate with a common goal in mind
